CARE FOR OUR SOLDIERS.—The following admirable letter was recently written by a soldier. It is an eloquent appeal for our disabled and wounded heroes:

"Let us not forget the debt of gratitude we owe to those way worn veterans who are now being gathered around our national capital as one huge family gathering around the national homestead. Suppose they had failed: suppose they had abandoned the contest in despair, what would have become of constitutional liberty? Where would popular government have found a safe abiding place? Where would our striped and starry stand ard have sought consolation of its shame? What of the past, and what of the future? What a mournful spectacle would this country have exhibited to the world. Democracy in ruins, free institutions overthrown, slavery triumphant, the unity of the States severed forever, the hopes of the friends of freedom abroad, the watching and waiting of other lands discouraged, desponding, despairing. But providence did not mean that justice should be crushed by lawless desperadoes, and that the prayerful voices of good men and women should be choked by a horde of bank-robbers and and assassins. Its agents responded to the call. Not only were the defenders of the Republic forthcoming, but they were nerved to more than martial daring. They were sustained by high and holy resolve in the midnight hours of national gloom and trial, and dread and doubt. Defeated again and again by the myrmidons of treason, they never gave up. Scarred and maimed they rallied again around the cherished symbol of their faith and fought until victory again perched on their banners and recorded their undying enthusiasm. They poured out their blood in rivers, they left their slain on the field in thousands, they saved the Republic; they protected the ark of civil and religious liberty; they secured for themselves and for us the freedom we inherited, and are now enabled to transmit it to posterity. Nay, more, they have given us freedom in a higher sense: they have destroyed the system of bondage which clung to our garments and stained them with blood; they have given us freedom, purified and regenerated, a body politic, the veins of which are no longer poisoned, and the garments of which no longer trail in the dust. They have given to the land a fresh star in a career of enlightenment. They have crowned the nation with present blessings and heaped up for it prospective honors.

Muster out! And what then? Are these tattered and dusty warriors only to receive as their recompense the homage of the admiring crowd whom assemble to witness and welcome their return? Are we to content ourselves with bestowing medals less worthy to keep and confer than corps badges which are stained by the smoke of battle? Are we simply to rear cenotaphs and mold bronze, and cluster immortelles in memory of the fallen?

We have a more important duty to perform. many of these worn veterans have filled positions of honor and of profit which are now filled by others. They must be cared for. Many have come back incapacitated for their former occupation by wounds involving the loss of limb. The authorities should give them such minor offices as are now filled with political hucksters. Those who wish to resume their trades should be patronized by our citizens; those who intend to reestablish shops and stores should be encouraged. Every body should make it a duty to lend a helping hand. Those who are invalids for life should receive the fostering care that is bestowed upon the scarred and weatherbeaten veterans of other lands. Let the Union, or the people, or both unitedly, build a Chelsea or a Greenwich—an asylum where the patriotism of heroes shall be freely commemorated, and where their battered remnants may be nurtured with the tenderness due them. We may talk at leisure about generosity; meanwhile let us pay the debt of gratitude."

THE PRESIDENT'S OPINION—DIFFICULTIES IN THE WAY OF NEGRO SUFFRAGE.—Last Tuesday afternoon, (13th June), a committee appointed by the yearly meeting of the New York Friends to present a memorial to the President and Cabinet, had an interview with President Johnson. After referring, with simple eloquence, to the manner of the death of President Lincoln, they came to the question of the enslaved millions in the South, and then made the following appeal: "We therefore, respectfully, yet earnestly, petition that, in the reorganization of the States which have wantonly rebelled against the Federal authority, the influence and power of the Government may be so exercised as to secure to all persons, without distinction of color, an equality of rights and franchises. Thus would we practically carry out in spirit those self-evident truths contained in the Declaration of Independence, 'that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these rights are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'"

In response, President Johnson said he would not make a speech, but would talk to them in the spirit of friendship and fraternal regard. He wished to talk to them as though they were all members of the same family. He told them of the difficulties in the way of conferring the right of suffrage as they desired, and gave them many instances of his experience among the slave of the South, whose habits and feelings he professed thoroughly to understand. But one great act might be said to have been fully accomplished by the war, after the restoration of the Union, and that is the complete abolition of slavery. There are many other things that would require time to accomplish, and among these might be the question of suffrage. The President referred to his own experience in the rebellion, and to the fact that while he had suffered personally and pecuniarily, and in other ways, he had no complaints to make, but would do his best to bring peace and order to the country.

The kind, frank and familiar manner with which he met and treated this Committee of Friends made a profound impression upon them, and they left Washington yesterday fully convinced that they could repose implicit confidence in Andrew Johnson. They felt and saw that he was animated by a true Christian spirit, and by those teachings of the immortal Jefferson to which they referred in their memorial. After a fervent benediction had been pronounced by one of the female members of the committee, they called upon the Cabinet. Secretary Stanton was especially frank and sympathetic, showing fully his knowledge of the great questions involved in the struggle, and a religious determination to do his share of the work.

There will be only one regret felt by our people as they read the decline of the rebel loan in England, and that will be that the amount held by those honest "neutrals" is not ten times as large as it is. It is amusing to see them writhe and groan under their losses, and to hear the appeals to that "high sense of justice towards neutrals" which they think ought to lead the North to make up their Confederate loan losses to them. Their hopes in that direction are more unsubstantial even than the loan itself.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 28, 1865.

The Union Party.

Certain persons who do not like the work it has done are wont to assume that the Union party, having now accomplished its immediate [illegible] will hereafter lack coherence and the power [illegible] it together as an organization, and that it will gradually lose its efficiency and ere long be abandoned. It is needless to say that such [illegible] are invariably the utterances of an enemy. They will always be found to emanate from those who do not perceive the utility and necessity of maintaining intact that organization which has preserved the Union. They who understood the true nature of the crisis that has been upon our country, and knew that the maintenance of the Union party was indispensable to the success of the nation, now also understand that without this party the continued preservation of the Union would not be possible. Its opponents, defeated though they are, would make an effort to reorganize an Copperhead political power could they only see how they might succeed. Not less, but more hostile than ever to the spirit of National Freedom by whose steady march they have been overborne, they wish to arrest its progress, to turn its current backwards, and on the refluent tide to ride again into place from whence they were driven long ago by the intelligent patriotism of the people. The dissolution of the Union party would now give these factionists and malcontents an opportunity to undo all that five years have done. This party organization cannot therefore, fall into desuetude so long as its members remain mindful of its indispensableness to country and liberty.

The Union party has a noble record. In the history of the country none other stands so high. The object it proposed to accomplish was one of no common importance and magnitude. Its purpose was to fight down treason, to prevent the separation of these States and to enforce the laws. These things have been done in spite of all obstacles, and now it only remains to administer the laws and to prevent those who sympathize with defeated treason from reversing all that has been accomplished, and from doing covertly and insidiously what has been openly and forcibly, though vainly attempted.

With men whose hearts were truly in the work of rescuing their country from its perils, there is now no thought of abandoning the organization through whose instrumentality they triumphed. Such know what the Union party has done and the work that is before it. We might ask our prophets to whom prediction is so easy a thing, from whence they derive their auguries of the speedy end of a party which embodies the major part, both of the intelligence and patriotism of which the country can boast. Much stress is laid upon the fact that in California dissatisfaction exists in the ranks of the party. This insubordinate spirit is not widely spread in that State, nor does it possess more than a few individuals. When these excrescences are sloughed off, the party will be stronger than before. It is not likely that men whose faith could not be overcome in the country's darkest hour—when in addition to disheartening defeat they heard the taunts of croakers who told them that their efforts would never succeed—can now be induced to give up all they struggled for, and willingly turn their country over to the tender mercies of the foul harpies which would have screamed exultingly around its dead body, and which now only wait an opportunity to fasten on their prey.

THE TWO ROUTES.—There has been a great effort this summer to divert the Boise and Owyhee trade from this route and to open a new way through from California to Idaho. By another year the project known as the "Red Bluff route" will cease to be a terror to our merchants. Facts are daily coming out which show the superiority of the route by way of the Columbia river. A gentleman recently from Idaho City informs us that a Mr. Isaacs, a merchant of that place, purchased a lot of goods for the Idaho market in San Francisco early in the spring, and sent half of them by way of Portland and Umatilla and the other half by way of Red Bluff. Both lots left San Francisco at the same time. Those which came this way arrived at Idaho City in good order shortly after the fire there and by this time are all or nearly all, sold out. Those which started by the Red Bluff route left that place in wagons on the 2d of May and had not reached Idaho City, nor been heard from one week ago. Hence it may be seen what chance the Red Bluff route has of competing with that by way of the Columbia river.

The gentleman who gives us this information was also at Owyhee not long ago. Mr. Shoenbar of that place had just received a quartz mill which had been hauled through from Red Bluff. It had been a long time on the way. The freight paid was fourteen cents per pound, but in addition to this sum the merchants of Red Bluff made up and presented to the teamsters the sum of two thousand dollars as an inducement to them to try the road. This was the first, or one of the first, trains that started on that route. Four others have yet got through. Facts such as these we have stated show that this route to Idaho is much cheaper and quicker than that overland from California.

TRAITOR BUCHANAN.—The old "Public Functionary" has long been threatening to inflict on the world an attempted vindication against the facts of history and the popular judgment everywhere, which hold him to accountability for having aided in organizing the rebellion. This remarkable book of his, it is said, will soon be published. Sisyphus in his ceaseless but abortive efforts to roll the great stone to the top of the "infernal steep" had a not more impossible and hopeless task before him than that which this shame of Presidents undertakes to perform when he tries to brave the indignation of the people he betrayed, and to reverse the irrevocable decision which has been pronounced against him. His only refuge is in obscurity and oblivion.

Miss Angela Starr King, sister of the eloquent and lamented Thomas Starr King, is now in San Francisco giving a series of public readings from rare authors. Her performances are said to be both creditable and successful. The papers say she has prepared herself by the closest study and severest discipline for these recitations. The people of California of course, receive her kindly nor could they do otherwise so long as the name of Starr King is remembered by those who have a grateful appreciation of the services he rendered his country at a time when dark clouds hovered over it, and when patriotic hope alone had power to look beyond the gloom into the bright realms of order and peace.

THE WAY IT IS DONE.—Any one who may have impatiently wondered why the overland mails are delayed so long on their route, may be somewhat enlightened as to the cause of this slow transmission, when he reads the following account from the Reese River Reveille of July 11th, of the manner in which Holladay performed his contract:

The way bill, per yesterday's stage from Salt Lake, contained this interesting memorandum: "We are advised by a passenger just arrived, that there is a large amount of mail matter coming in on emigrant wagons."

EXCITEMENT AT THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE OFFICE.—The New York Times of the 13th June says:

About noon yesterday some excitement was created in and around the Tribune office by the appearance in [illegible] of Benjamin Wood, of the Daily News, who demanded the immediate suppression of a bulletin posted on the Tribune office, which reflected rather severely upon Wood in connection with [illegible] before the Military Commission in Washington. The attaches of the office complied with Wood's demand and the bulletin was removed.

Boise and Owyhee

[illegible] CORRESPONDENCE [illegible]

JORDAN CREEK, OWYHEE, July 10, 1865.

Of late there is not much exciting of interest in this portion of Idaho. The new ledge of which I wrote, the Trask & Jennings, has been a nine day's wonder, and is a matter of great astonishment and interest to the lucky finders who are digging out the ore, and chuckling over their good fortune with every glance at the [illegible] precious metals [illegible]. For the first week the volume of [illegible] to the Trask & Jennings claim, after anxiously ensuing the luck of their [illegible] who were just the [illegible] of course to strike a big thing before they had been here long enough to know quartz from [illegible]. In the mean time, the ledge in question is undoubtedly rich, and as it is developed, promises to be one of the most valuable ones in this camp. The Oregon boys who are interested in it are working hard to [illegible] and are taking out rock that promises well to repay their labor.

I think I have never mentioned that a map of the ledges upon Jordan creek is being made from surveys by Israel Mitchell, of Multnomah county, and platted by W. L. White, Esq., of Oregon City. Every one who knows these two gentlemen will have confidence that the work has been carefully and correctly done. As a basis of proceeding, they have surveyed and made a plat of the road winding up from Ruby City to the Oro Fino, and also of the road running thence to the mill of Ainsworth & Co., on Sinker creek. These roads are made the data by which the position and course of the different ledges is determined, and the map when finished and lithographed will offer to the many outside of Owyhee, interested in its ledges, a clear idea of the course and length of the principal ledges here, and show how they are differently connected. There seem to be five or six different formations of quartz each belonging to some principal ledge, and the branches and connections by the map shown to belong to it. For instance, the Oro Fino and its branches include at least six or eight ledges of note and consequence. The War Eagle is another principal mineral bearing vein. The Morning Star has fewer branches or spurs than almost any other, while the Whisky Gulch, Eureka and Calaveras, which are the same ledge in different localities, seems to be the central ledge in this vicinity, and the most extensive in its ramifications and branchy connections. I am inclined to think that the hundreds of ledges claimed here belong to not half a dozen quartz formations.

The discovery of cinnabar in large quantities and good quality, promises well for the future, as a mine of that valuable and necessary article will have a chance to supply the wide mineral region lying between the Missouri river and the Cascade mountains. This discovery is assuming a considerable prominence here at the present time. Several companies have claimed the ground where the ore was discovered and are preparing to develop their mines and prove their value as soon as possible. Idaho is an extraordinary mineral field, where amid desert wastes rise bleak mountains that promise rich rewards for the prospector, as well as the capitalist. Parties have gone and are going out prospecting the mountain range south of here for one hundred and fifty miles, where, no doubt mines will be discovered. There is a story connected with an emigration way back in the forties, of a Red Mountain where gold was to be had for picking up. Myth or fact, the Red Mountain serves as a lure for excitable men, and considerable of a party will soon leave here to search for it. During three weeks I have been here, some valuable discoveries have been made within a short distance of this place. Several valuable ledges have been struck, not least among which is the Trask & Jennings of which I have written, and where I have seen my friends digging out ore that was immensely rich in silver and glittering in gold. I have never seen anything richer in all my acquaintance with Owyhee. This ledge if well developed with continued improvement, will sell for a handsome sum, and make my friends, the "web foot boys," men of note at home. That is the way in mining countries, some make rich strikes when not expecting them, and some expect them when they have no chance to make them.

Owyhee is a land of humbug as well as of reality. At times humbug carries the day entirely. Stock operators, foot brokers and the lawyers have not much show, but lawyers live in hope with a [illegible] usefulness of a good time coming. The best thing I know of is the recorder's berth, where a man has to pungle two dollars, principally in cash, to have his name registered in connection with a quartz ledge. At times the applicants for quartz and candidates for future millions stand in rows waiting to be served, each, perhaps, requiring five or ten minutes of the public official's valuable time to record a paper with charges perhaps of ten dollars attached. I am inclined to doubt if our worthy recorder averages over one hundred dollars per day, or makes less than one thousand dollars per month. I have been sometimes anxious on his account for fear of his being reduced to ill health by too much exercise, but I notice the heaviest labor he has to perform, weighing out gold dust in appreciation of "fees"—is done with a smile, while the lightest work required of him saying "yes" to the poor devils who are quartz smitten, but not purse proud, and who are sometimes compelled to live on faith and "beans straight" or strait, are also reduced to the straight to ask for credit on their "fees" due. This task is met with a sigh and sometimes a groan, but I am happy to say credit is seldom refused. I am in favor of a reduction of fees, to save the good officials of Idaho the trouble of charging more than people can pay. The society of these parts is mixed. Every other man met is a Judge, that is to say, he is either attorney, justice of the peace, sells whisky or looks redder faced than his neighbors. These attorneys who were only admitted last term have to wait six months longer for the title, but six months passes quickly in a quartz country. The jaunty looking gentlemanly attorney you see there, was a captain of dragoons under Mulligan when the hemp bales rolled up and took Lexington. On gala days he dons his uniform and wears his sabre. There is a delicious touch of brogue about him. Yonder is a tall, rather worn looking individual, who is bent on opening the Chico route and running the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, Captain F. B. Pierce. His route to Chico was made by nature, and late arrivals speak of a very good road to be found in traveling about four hundred and twenty five miles. At present the Indians are a [illegible] to Captain Pierce, as he is to the Oregon Steam Navigation Company.

Yonder [illegible] individual with the big whiskers and the free and easy way is a character of uncommon recklessness. Last winter he was absent from here, it is said, having visited Virginia City, where he had an early acquaintance, to give testimony in an important suit. One Comstock Company, it's said, gave him $2,500 to come, while another was as liberal in persuading him to go, and here he is, after having reaped his harvest of $5,000, which came and went as easily persuaded as himself. All these men you see whittling around you, sitting in the shade or the sunshine, according to the weather, are engaged in trying to make a fortune out of quartz. Every Eastern pine packing case that comes on to the creek, is delicately split up and apportioned out among the whittlers, among whom [illegible]. The town would be choked with chips and shavings, only that the wind rises and sweeps the streets clear of all obstructions [illegible] a bandbox here almost as often as anybody, although he pays nothing for the privilege. He whirls the hurdy gurdies on a merry dance sometimes, when he catches them out on a promenade.

In change [illegible] material for a newspaper is expected to arrive this week, and it may commence operation early in August. A mail [illegible] leave here for Chico soon as the contract is awarded to Messrs. Pearce & Francis. One week ago the first religious services were held in Ruby City, Mr. Jackson from Oregon, of the Episcopal Church, officiating.

THE FREEDMEN.—The National Freedmen's Association, with its head at New York, was formed some time ago. Subordinate societies are springing up in every State and in almost every town. The work has recently been commenced in Oregon. Rev. E. Walker, of Forest Grove, is appointed Agent for this State. Several societies have already been formed under his supervision and by his efforts. We learn that he intends to devote several months to the work of organizing societies in different parts of this State.

The object of the Association is to educate the Freedmen and prepare them for the new condition into which they have now entered. The work is a most laudable one. It is not a matter over which political parties can wrangle; it is rather a duty which suggests itself to every true friend of humanity. Prejudice against color, surely ought not to prevent men from being humane, generous and just. The negro is now a freeman. He must be taught to rely upon and to sustain himself.

Mr. Walker will address the people of Ames Chapel on this subject on Sunday, the 6th of August.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN!

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF THE Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date of June 15th, 1865, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent.

Gold Bearing Bonds.

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent., including gold interest from November, which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 Loan, at current rates, including interest, about ten per cent. per annum, besides its EXEMPTION FROM STATE AND MUNICIPAL TAXATION, which adds from one to three per cent. more, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable in currency semi-annually, by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a	$50 note.
Two cents " "	$100	"
Ten " "	$500	"
20 " "	$1000	"
$1 " "	$5000	"

Notes of all denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the GREAT POPULAR LOAN Of the People!

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

Less than $300,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress, are now on the market.

This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Bank, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

[illegible] of the [illegible] this afternoon [illegible] of a new gold [illegible] Elk River. [illegible] City on Monday [illegible] discovery. The [illegible] not very much [illegible] with no very sanguine expectations [illegible] the prospects [illegible] to the pan. [illegible] so that the ground is [illegible] for a distance of [illegible] miles [illegible] in feet. From one claim [illegible] had been taken out by sluicing [illegible]. The first discovery claim [illegible] from 10 cents to $[illegible] to the pan. [illegible] a ground sluice [illegible] for days more [illegible] will be ground, which will test the mines pretty [illegible] early.

Freight to Owyhee.—The Red Bluff Independent of July 20th has learned that Richards & McCraken of San Francisco advertise to take freight to Owyhee at [illegible] cents per pound, and adds: "This is from ten to fifteen cents cheaper than it has previously been taken, and [illegible] inclined to think it about the last gasp to keep the trade on the Portland route. This offer of Richards & McCraken is [illegible] Owyhee. Richards & McCraken don't guarantee anything in their advertisement [illegible] merchant comes to reckon up all the [illegible] advances and commissions he will find that from 16 to 20 cents per pound [illegible]. We can assure the merchant [illegible] up all the differences that 11 cents per pound from San Francisco to Owyhee is just now the whole freight charge by this route and it will be [illegible] the roads continue good. [illegible] Red Bluff [illegible] and teams [illegible] able to travel ten miles [illegible] getting through [illegible] from San Francisco [illegible] Red Bluff [illegible] rates are high from [illegible] Walla Walla they will [illegible] Sacramento."

Portland vs. Valley Merchants.—The interior presses are complaining that the merchants of Portland don't deal with the valley [illegible] on a square [illegible] principle. They complain [illegible] at wholesale [illegible] in the [illegible] to show [illegible] Eugene [illegible] valley merchants [illegible] are pursuing [illegible] who is employed to freight for the interior [illegible] goods of the same character at lower rates than [illegible] if they can dispose of merchandise [illegible] should do it equally as fair to the other. [illegible] asked at Eugene [illegible] we are not prepared [illegible] Many of our people [illegible] their trading, and are obliged to dispose of their produce here, and pay the [illegible] prices for goods [illegible] that our country traders make [illegible] same they are [illegible] in Portland.

Oregon Oak.—The timbers being put into the [illegible] the Jane A. Falkinburg to [illegible] this collision are of the best quality of oak. We think there is no better to be found in any country. The [illegible] of this material procured [illegible] of this city some three miles [illegible] a spar suitable for [illegible] is being procured on the west side of the river [illegible] timber for vessels. It is surprising that [illegible] do not combine for the purpose of building [illegible] vessel of [illegible]. A little capital invested by a few men [illegible] who would be able to [illegible] would pay well, we should think. The building [illegible] vessel a year would be sufficient [illegible] That vessels can be made here [illegible] ten or twelve years we have no doubt [illegible] certainly employment [illegible] be found for such.

A New Book.—We are informed that Rev. [illegible] has in preparation for the press a book [illegible] concurrent religious, and general events occurring under his observation in Oregon during the last fourteen years. Mr. Pearne is well qualified by his large experience and the position he has filled to describe [illegible] in Oregon, or incidents and sketches by an Oregon [illegible]. He expects to issue it by the first of January next.

The Paper Thief.—Mr. H. D. Desmond gives the following notice to whom it may concern: "[illegible] the individual who is so much afflicted with a disease to keep 'posted up,' as to induce him to appropriate my paper two or three times a week, that some of these fine mornings he may find himself the subject of an interesting police inquiry, or hear something [illegible] the influence of a brickbat.

Given under my hand this 27th day of July, A. D. 1865.

H. D. Desmond."

Philanthropic.—An elderly gentleman, apparently entertaining good will toward men, has been employing his time for two evenings past in sprinkling a portion of Front street above the Court House, and passed over by the [illegible] rounds of the sprinkling cart. His manner [illegible] the work is somewhat novel for such an extensive [illegible], being accomplished by the aid of the common watering cans, two of which he uses, one in each hand. It is seldom that a purpose like this is so generously bestowed by an individual for the good of the whole [illegible], and we cannot restrain the impulse to make a note of it."

The Accident Wednesday.—The accident to the ship [illegible] at work on the bark Jane A. Falkinburg on [illegible] resulted in injury to two men, and the narrow escape of a third. The regular ship's carpenter was [illegible] in the foot by an axe, Mr. Clinton was injured by [illegible] of an adze as stated yesterday, and the third [illegible] falling over board. The cause of the accident was a false stroke by one of the workmen. The men injured are not able to work at present, but are [illegible].

[illegible] Notice.—Mr. Dolan gives the public notice [illegible] column, that on the last Monday in next [illegible] the 28th of August at the County Clerk's office [illegible] in this city, the [illegible] roll will [illegible], for the purpose of making any corrections [illegible] may be necessary, of errors that may have occurred in the valuation and description of lots, lands [illegible] property.

[illegible] Theatre.—Yeoler's Grand Scenic Exhibition will be given at the above place of amusement this [illegible] and to-morrow evening, previous to the leaving [illegible] tour on Puget Sound. The programme, which is [illegible] in full in the small bills, represents a series of [illegible] original photographic views of the [illegible] of American and foreign scenes, a large collection of paintings and statuary, scenes connected with [illegible] rebellion. The exhibition is recommended by a [illegible] of persons who have seen it. See advertisement.

[illegible].—The woods for several miles East of this city are [illegible] very much on fire. Large, dense, black [illegible] of smoke were continually arising in that direction [illegible] day. West of the city also there was considerable fire in the woods, lighted in some places by [illegible] new house was nearly destroyed yesterday. Port[illegible] now literally set down as "existing between two [illegible]."

[illegible] Plain.—The Assistant Assessor gives notice to [illegible] in another column, relative to their liability to penalties for a non-compliance with the requirements of the revenue law, in making reports of their [illegible] daily sales and manufactures. We are requested to call attention to the same.

For Fort Yamhill.—Company A of the Oregon Infantry, Capt. La Follett, passed through the city yesterday en route to Fort Yamhill from Fort Vancouver. They were escorted to [illegible] by the Regimental Band on board the steamer Fanny Troup, and took their departure in the afternoon [illegible]. They are a fine looking set of men.

A Hit at Web Feet.—A case of imported boots recently landed on the wharf in this city, bears the special mark of the manufacturer on the outside, and these words: "Manufactured expressly for the Oregon market. Extra wide instep."

The River.—The excessively hot weather of last week has melted snows in the mountains sufficient to cause a fresh rise in the river. After gaining eighteen inches the water is now again receding.

The Rescue.—The steamer Rescue, lying at Ankeny's wharf, which has been cut down and stripped of machinery, is now undergoing a new building process, which will give her a much better appearance when completed.

Cut [illegible] of Wharf.—The steamer Fannie Troup, Capt. [illegible], plying between this city and Vancouver, will make her regular landings at the Lincoln House wharf [illegible] to this city after Monday next.

[illegible] of Trustees.—The Trustees of the Portland [illegible] and Female Seminary will meet at the [illegible] this evening for the transaction of important [illegible].

New Wheat.—The Brooklyn Mills expect [illegible] from new wheat at the [illegible].

[illegible] Moore's American Orthography [illegible] has been excluded by another city [illegible] public schools [illegible] because it is [illegible] the youthful mind [illegible] the description [illegible] and appurtenances [illegible] illustrations [illegible] troops and the [illegible].

A Bottomless Lake.—A lake [illegible] near the Eclipse [illegible] the latest discovery among the tall peaks of the Sierra Nevada, which although but 400 feet [illegible] by 200 [illegible] has been sounded to the depth of 390 feet without finding any bottom. It probably [illegible] of an extinguished [illegible]. A large number of quartz leads appear to radiate in every direction from this lake as a center, and [illegible].—Scientific Press.

Two Rich Traitors.—Generals Beauregard and Dick Taylor have been for some time residing in the vicinity of New Orleans awaiting the proceedings of the Government in their case.

The Quartz of Owyhee

Having [illegible] the examination of the [illegible] I had taken my departure [illegible] with a view [illegible] several [illegible] at [illegible] and [illegible]. [illegible] to contemplate [illegible] could gaze upon hour the [illegible] wealth [illegible] awaiting the capital of man and the skill of the miner to bring it forth. On the other hand as avarice will hoard so will pleasure exhaust in the [illegible] could we but gaze into the pages of futurity and see for what purpose the [illegible] wealth would be appropriated [illegible] the young would [illegible] gazing on these old mountains, weather beaten, gradually [illegible] and crumbling away by the storms of [illegible], portions of their wealth exposed, while others are washed down far from their original deposition from thence readily [illegible] the cause that induces men to leave the haunts of civilization and happiness and sequestrate themselves far from the former [illegible].

Day by day the process of reconstruction in the deep recesses of earth, are going on. fissures are forming crystallization [illegible] going on in places actively, and widening these fissures while in other portions they are but slightly [illegible] we term the walls of mineral [illegible] are [illegible] the base [illegible] for this wealth [illegible] and forming [illegible] diversified ways to test the science and patience of the metallurgist. Here unlike Virginia City we have a multiplicity of ledges. Virginia has but the one, the Comstock, which [illegible] Gold Hill [illegible] passing around [illegible] which the "Uncle Sam" and other mines are located, the other passing near the main thoroughfare on which are the [illegible] and other mines towards Virginia. The development of Idaho have fully established the fact [illegible] of many [illegible] theoretical [illegible] who spring up like magic and overshadow the [illegible] of others in [illegible]. [illegible] gentlemen [illegible] through the daily publications [illegible] theories are [illegible] highly gratifying [illegible] the [illegible] particularly so when [illegible] endorsed with the sanctity of an oath.

I have digressed, but unintentionally. The ledges of Owyhee though narrow are very rich; I use the term narrow in comparison with the Comstock. I will resume at some future period.

WASHOE.

From Bitter Root.—Mr. Shockley furnishes the Walla Walla Statesman with the following interesting items:

The [illegible] grist mills [illegible] Bitter Root Valley [illegible] which will be completed [illegible] fall.

The [illegible] yield. The fall wheat [illegible] winter killed. [illegible] spring wheat was most promising.

Flour supplied from Salt Lake was selling in the valley at $30 per hundred.

[illegible] had arrived at Fort Benton [illegible] six more were [illegible] expected.

A general stampede of miners had taken place to the Big Blackfoot river, where report said every [illegible] Nothing definite was known about the mines when Mr. Shockley left.

The mines at [illegible] Bitter Root [illegible] were discovered last spring, are paying well. The diggings are spotted, however, and the paying [illegible] far as discovered, pretty generally taken up. The richest diggings are at the head of the Little Blackfoot and [illegible] Last Chance Gulch, just beyond the divide of the Rocky mountains. The former mines extend along the divide for about six miles, and the richest claims pay from $100 to $200 per day. Two men at Last Chance Gulch [illegible] a claim recently for which they paid $11,000, and they took the amount out of the claim in six days.

About 500 men, including those who went from the Coeur d'Alene—have gone from [illegible] country this season.

A. Ward on Things at Richmond.—Artemus Ward is out in an amusing "letter from Richmond," in which he thus discourses of the "Union sentiment" there:

"There is [illegible] a great deal of Union sentiment in this city. I see it on every hand. I met a man to-day [illegible] not at liberty to tell his name, but he is an old and influential citizen of Richmond, and sez he, 'Why, we've bin fightin agin the Old Flag. Lor' bless you, how sing[illegible]' He then burst into tears. [illegible] another [illegible] 'Let us at once stop this [illegible] the Old Flag is good enough for me, sir,' he added. 'You are from the North. Have you a doughnut or a piece of custard pie about you?' I told him no, but I knew a man from Vermont who had just organized a sort of restaurant, where he could go and make a very comfortable breakfast on New England rum and cheese. He borrowed fifty cents of me, and asking me to send him Wm. Lloyd Garrison's ambrotype as soon as I got home, he walked off. Said another, 'There's [illegible] a tremendous [illegible] Union feeling here from the first. But we was kept down by a rain of terror. Have you a daguerreotype of Wendell Phillips about your person? and will you lend me four dollars for a few days till we are once more a happy and united people?'"

Sozodont is now attracting very considerable attention, and well it may. The article represented by this musical name, is one of the best preparations for the teeth and gums that has ever been offered to the public.

We have been familiar with its results for some years past, and have never known a case in which its use was not pleasing and highly satisfactory. It polishes the teeth, hardens the gums and gives a wholesome tone to the mouth and breath.—Providence Daily Press.

WISTAR'S BALSAM
—OF—
HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY HALF A CENTURY,
WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING
Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

E. B. Finley, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.
E. Boyden, M. D., Exeter, Me.
Alexander Hatch, M. D., China, Me.
R. Fellows, M. D., Hill, N. H.

W. B. Lynch, M. D., Auburn, N. Y.
Abraham Skillman, M. D., Boundbrook, N. J.
H. D. Martin, M. D., Mansfield, Pa.

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas, for the fame and virtue of Wistar's Balsam have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

TO CALIFORNIANS AND OREGONIANS.

After October 1, 1863, all genuine WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY for the Pacific Coast will be enclosed in a new wrapper, which will bear the printed names of both Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, Mass., and John D. Park, Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as fac-simile of the signatures of "I. Butts," "Sanborn & Park," and "H. Wistar, M. D."

A Revolution in Mining.

Gold and silver are very good things to have provided they can be used but Robinson Crusoe would have gladly swopped his lump of the yellow ore a lump as big as his head, for its weight in tenpenny nails, simply because it was useless for his progress Gold and silver, whether in big lumps or little add nothing to the wealth of the country beyond a certain point if to bring them into use costs more than they are worth Our mineral wealth enormous as it is has these limits first, that only a certain portion of it can be made available because of the cost of separating the precious metals from the ore and secondly that a still larger portion is of no value, since they cannot be separated at all Any process which shall cheapen the extraction of gold and silver from their ores will add immensely to our national means and if it can effectually unlock those that are now reached at all, a new source of wealth is opened to us of incalculable value Dr J C Ayer the well known chemist of New England, has recently hit upon a method of disintegration and desulphurization of ores which if it does all that it is promised of it will make not only the fortune of those who are connected with him in the ownership of the patents but add largely to the wealth of the nation itself If this method shall prove successful we are about to witness a revolution in mining which will so add to our national resources as to make not only the payment of the public debt an easy matter but which will influence the commerce of the world

It is claimed for this new process that it is effectual in the disintegration and desulphurization of rock and ores by the application of liquid or liquid solutions while in a heated state The rock or ore is rendered soft or friable and may be easily reduced to powder, while the volatile metals are, at the same time, expelled and the base metals oxydized This leaves the gold and silver free for amalgamation

By the ordinary method of grinding and stamping rock, the gold therein contained is so commingled that a large part of it eludes the mercury and is lost However finely the rock is pulverized, it is found, under the microscope, to be merely split into pieces or chips of stone, each of which contains gold within itself beyond the reach of mercury, and which is of course lost In the one case the metal is lost because it is itself ground and reduced too fine to be obtained, in the other, because it is not released at all No successful method of overcoming these difficulties has hitherto been discovered, and, consequently under the system of extraction now in use miners only get about one-third of the gold therein contained

Dr Ayer's process appears to obviate these difficulties, for while it aggregates the precious metals into globules by the natural action of heat it destroys the molecular adhesion of the integral particles of the stone, rendering it friable like chalk It in fact, disintegrates the rock into its atoms, so that it may be easily rubbed up into powder. So effectual is the atomic separation that flint glass or the hardest quartz or agate is made to absorb water like a sponge Hence it is claimed that ores, treated by it yield nearly all the precious metals they contain (over ninety per cent) for the usual means of extraction The process not only destroys the rock without dividing the gold and silver, but also expels by chemical action any volatile metals such as arsenic antimony or bismuth, whose presence forbids amalgamation by mercury, while, if sulphurets are present, the oxygen of the decomposed water used in the process, unites with the base metals which remain as oxydes, and the sulphur uniting with the hydrogen goes off in clouds as sulphuretted hydrogen Hence mines that have been abandoned because they could not although rich be profitably worked for any of the above reasons may now afford a munificent return and even the "tailings" of the working mines yield more gold than has hitherto been obtained from the mines themselves by the old method. Highly sulphuretted ores are frequently among the richest that are found, but they have been nearly worthless in consequence of the insuperable difficulties in extracting the metals from them Now the difficulties appear to be wholly removed—difficulties which have locked within the rocks an untold amount of bullion. The great points gained then, are

1. The integral separation of stone into its atoms, which grinding, stamping or pulverizing can but imperfectly accomplish.

2. Desulphurization of sulphuretted rocks and ores, and their purification from contaminating metal

3. Expulsion of the volatile metals

4. Oxydization of the base metals and separation therefrom of the precious metals held in combination

And, these points gained, it is estimated that the process will yield a working average say from eighty to ninety per cent of the precious metals contained in any kind of rock or ore and not less than twice as much as is obtained by any method now in use But beside this there is an immense saving in the expense of mining as the costly machinery and power for stamping are dispensed with and the apparatus required is cheap and may be built anywhere The following estimate is made

The average cost of stamping machinery at the rate of $1,000 per stamp (One stamp can only crush about one ton per day)

The average cost of machinery to stamp 100 tons per day	$[illegible]
The average cost of [illegible] to disintegrate and desulphurize 100 tons per day	[illegible]
Saving by this process of capital invested for 100 tons	$[illegible]
Assuming that 100 tons of ore are worked daily containing $[illegible] per ton they would yield by the stamp process say 30 per cent	[illegible]
The same ore not by this process say 80 per cent	[illegible]
Daily difference in favor of this process	$ [illegible]

Thus on an investment of $100 [illegible] there is not only the saving of $80,000 in the first investment but a daily saving of $5,000 in the yield

The result arrived at so far have been obtained through a course of careful experiments upon considerable quantities of rock and to the perfect success of these Dr Hayes, the State Assayer and Mineralogist of Massachusetts Professor Silliman of Yale College and Professor [illegible] Assayer of the Mint in this city testify in the most unqualified manner. Whether the same results will be reached by practical application of the process on a larger scale at the mines remains of course to be seen So great is the confidence felt in it however among capitalists that [illegible] that a company has been formed under the title of the "Chemical [illegible] and Silver Ore Reducing Company" of which [illegible] General Halleck is President and other substantial men Trustees

At the office No 84 Broadway they offer their discovery to the public and their stock and real [illegible] for sale

[illegible] wonderful [illegible] the interest of mining [illegible] hardly be overestimated [illegible] shall be developed [illegible] the process

If this [illegible] accomplish what [illegible] to be fully [illegible]

[illegible] of the seven churches of Asia Minor in the New Testament [illegible] the great [illegible] the [illegible] the father of [illegible] Congregationalism [illegible] the Rev [illegible] the ancient Puritan [illegible] a company [illegible] body [illegible] Holland in 1608 and a [illegible] whom of immortal memory [illegible] in the [illegible] constituting the first church of New England The first church formed here on a similar basis was at Salem in 1629 Thus Congregationalism lies at the very foundations of all that we have since become as a people and a government

It would not be in place to give even an outline of the subsequent growth and achievements of Congregationalism considered as a denomination [illegible] There is much in the subject of interest to persons of all religious views It will generally be conceded that no denomination has been more remarkably [illegible] the cause of education and intelligence as the great nurseries [illegible] under its patronage, particularly in New England and the Northwest will demonstrate None has been more efficient in promoting temperance moral reform and all the great benevolent and missionary enterprises of the day None has been before it in upholding the laws and in responding to the call of patriotism in both the great crises of the Revolution and the war of the rebellion Its records abound bear the illustrious names of Milton Howe Watts and Doddridge and in this country of Mathers the Edwardses Shepard Bellamy Hopkins Emmons Dwight Smart Beecher and Taylor It is not [illegible] works and we cannot doubt that this National Council the first of the kind we believe ever called will still further promote its efficiency and extend its usefulness —Boston Journal June 14th

The Washington special dispatch to the [illegible] says "One of the prominent political leaders of the rebellion now in this city and one who is exempted from President Johnson's amnesty remarked in conversation recently that if the victorious North intends to impress its ideas of State subordination and free labor on the South ern people it will have to disfranchise for a term of years all who have taken part with the rebellion and the longer such a measure is delayed the further off will be the era of political harmony in this country This is the conclusion also at which some of the soundest Union men in Washington, are to think [illegible] by the disgraceful attitude of affairs in Virginia have to come to
